Access Control Solutions by Access Control Professionals

ABDi Video Capture Interface:

During the past five years there has been a significant increased desire by communities to memorialize the brief interview between security personnel and the guest or contractor attempting ingress into the community. ABDi's exclusive Video Capture Interface is able to photograph both the driver's face and the vehicle license, without intervention by any of the gatehouse personnel.

The act of confirming and processing an incoming guest or contracted professional automatically starts the Video Capture of that event. The Driver's face and the vehicle's tag are tied directly in the database, to the ingress or turn back of that person (vehicle). The picture and the event are in the active database for as long as the community desires, and can be archived to meet the needs of the residents for the future.

Besides the security personnel themselves, the presence of Video Capture at the gatehouse is the single-most important perceived security that a community can have. "Surveillance Cameras" are an important tool in addressing the access control needs of any community desiring to weed out acceptable entries into the community from uninvited "guests." ABDi's approach to the Video Capture Module is unique in that we take full responsibility for the entire system of photographic initialization and retention of the photographs integrated into CMS or SAS. High quality video cameras, capable of day or night video photography, multiplexers that can split the monitor screen for instantaneous review of the ingress event, cabling, power supply, everything needed to be able to identify this purchase as a System, rather than simply a software purchase, is a strategic decision for both the community and Applications by Design, Inc.

ABDi takes full responsibility for the Video System installed, and ensures a seamless integration between computers and video equipment. We do it well, and we do it often, as evidenced by the quality of communities purchasing this system!

ABDi has become a major force in the Residential Community CCTV industry. We want the integration of video photography and community access control to take place with the least amount of angst for the community, security, and property management. The quality of our references speaks volumes about ABDi's successful strategy of Video Capture Turnkey installation.

It's our way of doing it right the first time; it's our policy!
